

Could you be the family for Mark?

Mark is a bright, active twelve year old white British boy who is looking to be part of a family until he is grown up.

Mark loves performing arts, particularly street dancing and acting. He enjoys skate-boarding and football, gymnastics, reading music and gardening. He likes puzzles and building projects and is a whiz at Lego construction. Mark has a good sense of humour and lots of interests.

He can be affectionate and would benefit from being the youngest child in the family. His behaviour can be challenging at times and he becomes anxious about change and new situations but in general is a charming and rewarding young man. He is quick witted and fun to be with.

Mark has had a disruptive early life, but for the last three years has been helped by being looked after by a foster family and is now ready to move on. Mark has seen his family a couple of times a year.

Mark would benefit from two energetic carers, either experienced or with a sound psychological understanding of children and with good routines and boundaries. We feel that he would flourish in a family with an active male carer as his previous male role models have been difficult for him.

Mark attends a school and he has good academic potential but has not always been able to work to his capacity.
